

MBA Pioneer 2024

Verbal Ability and Reading Comprehension

DPP: 7

Sentence Odd One Out - Part 1

Q1 Identify the odd statement out of the given sentences

1. Pesticides impair the survival of a variety of life cycle stages, limit reproductive capability, and alter host
2. Beneficial insects play a vital role in natural pest control and pollination of crops.
3. This information will aid in optimizing pesticide use in integrated pest management programs by implementing more sustainable and environment-friendly methods.
4. The use of synthetic pesticides in agricultural areas is harmful to both natural enemies and pollinators.
5. There is a need to investigate the side effects of synthetic and botanical pesticides.

Q2 Identify the odd statement out of the given sentences

1. Ultimately, thousands of teachers in Samarinda who are members of the Samarinda Teachers Care Forum held a demonstration against the incentive adjustment at Samarinda City Hall.
2. In carrying out its duties, it is not uncommon for the government to receive opposition from several parties who feel that the policies taken are detrimental
3. Professor Wilbur Schramm said that communication and society are two twin words that cannot be separated.
4. One of the mass media in East Kalimantan that reported on the polemic was the Kaltim Newspaper.

5. As a press institution, Koran Kaltim carries out its role as a conveyor of information to the public.

Q3 Identify the odd statement out of the given sentences

1. Indebted homeowners, struggling with mortgage and property tax payments, were threatened with foreclosure.
2. Depositors drew heavily on savings and, saddled with unmarketable properties, lending institutions went bankrupt.
3. Out of work, tenants fell behind on their rent and faced eviction.
4. Compelled to intervene, federal governments became permanently involved in the housing market.
5. When tenants failed to pay rent, or left apartments and houses vacant, landlords had a problem.

Q4 Identify the odd statement out of the given sentences

1. Even though we get energy from the non-fat part of our diet, there has to be some part from fat as well to provide essential fatty acids that the body alone is unable to synthesize.
2. Generally, about one-third of energy intake should be obtained from fat and too much fat can lead to weight gain, and many more noncommunicable diseases such as CVD.
3. In the current society lifestyle factors including maladaptive diet are dominating other factors that cause systematic inflammations which lead to the development of atherosclerosis

Android App

| iOS App

| PW Website

4. Apart from that it acts as a carrier of fat-soluble vitamins and is necessary for their absorption.
5. Fats and oils play one of the major roles in unhealthy diets.

Q5 Identify the odd statement out of the given sentences

1. Despite accounting for only about 2-3% of anthropogenic CO₂ emissions, CO₂ emissions from aviation are increasing year after year
2. even though airports are frequently the major source of air pollution in a community, the expansion of air travel has substantial climate change consequences for the global environment.
3. The industry's growth is outpacing the rate of airframe and engine development
4. Nitrogen oxides, carbon monoxide, hydrocarbons, particulate matter, sulfur oxide, and carbon dioxide (CO₂) are all contaminants that affect air quality
5. As a result, most major airports are now subject to operational restrictions or capacity limitations based on aircraft noise data.

Q6 Identify the odd statement out of the given sentences

1. INDIA woke up to yet another disaster on 7 February 2021.
2. The devastation was a grim reminder of an even more devastating disaster in Kedarnath, Uttarakhand in the year 2013
3. Natural disasters such as cloud bursts, earthquakes, floods, avalanches, and forest fires are common in the region.
4. The state of Uttarakhand encompasses Himalayan ecosystems and a constant influx of tourists.
5. It was one of the worst natural disasters in India after the 2004 Tsunami.

Q7 Identify the odd statement out of the given sentences

1. This is particularly true in the Global South.
2. The negative consequences of Western colonization endure in many countries in the world
3. Some might think that European colonization was a historical period that is now in the past
4. Thousands of children who attend Steiner schools are directly affected by such colonial legacies.
5. Many serious world issues, such as chronic inequality within and between countries, civil unrest, racism, etc. can be traced back to European colonization.

Q8 Identify the odd statement out of the given sentences

1. Subsequently, lockdown and personal protection measures were implemented around the world
2. Around 3 months after the first cases were reported in December 2019 in Wuhan, China, the World Health Organization (WHO) declared the situation a pandemic.
3. In 2020, older individuals represented approximately 53% of the deaths attributed to the disease in Brazil
4. Covid-19 is an infectious, highly communicable disease caused by the SARS-CoV-2 virus.
5. The majority of such residents have chronic comorbidities, increasing their level of frailty and, hence, the chances of developing more severe forms of the disease.

Q9 Identify the odd statement out of the given sentences

1. Taylor Owen, an associate professor at McGill University, revealed that misleading or erroneous information regarding the

Android App

| iOS App

| PW Website

coronavirus is far more likely to be shared on social media than in traditional news media.

2. It has been described as made-up information that resembles news media content in form but differs in organizational structure or intent.
3. Social media spreading false information about threats to the public's health was becoming more and more evident during the Covid 19 outbreak.
4. They also found social media Platforms like Twitter and Facebook are increasingly becoming the primary sources of news and information for Canadians and people around the world
5. Therefore, it's crucial to research how fake news is created and disseminated via social networking sites, as well as what role users play and the motivations for doing so.

Q10 Identify the odd statement out of the given sentences

1. Today, the media is a means of comprehensive assimilation of the environment by man.
2. Media culture is becoming more and more influential and spreading around the world
3. It spreads through the press, television, cinematography, video, and computer channels.
4. Studies conducted in recent years show that media texts are becoming more popular among the majority of the general audience.
5. Media culture can be manifested as a system of levels of development of the professional activity of a person

Q11 Identify the odd statement out of the given sentences

1. Later generations could decipher and restore historical facts from the historical information contained in modern newspapers.

2. But in the 1850s, some Western-educated nationals began to establish their newspapers
3. The modern Chinese press was originally founded by foreigners in China
4. The news-paper industry gradually developed and became an important source of social information and understanding for the Chinese people
5. In 1858, the first Chinese newspaper, Chinese and Foreign Newsline, was established.

Q12 Identify the odd statement out of the given sentences

1. Sediment production is important in supply-limited systems
2. In fact, the likelihood that a debris flow will be triggered depends on the availability of sufficient precipitation and mobilizable sediment
3. The second condition depends on progressive time-dependent mechanisms of sediment accumulation
4. The process of channel recharge is very often relevant for debris flow initiation.
5. Sediment production has a strong influence on debris flow frequency and magnitude.

Q13 Identify the odd statement out of the given sentences

1. Editorials allow newspapers to make allegiances known; support and oppose individuals; speak on behalf of their readers; speak to readers; and speak to politicians, parties, and other organizations.
2. Although there are some places where editorials are not commonplace including Mexico, Saudi Arabia, and Bulgaria.
3. These articles make up the editorial column, a historical feature of the printed newspaper format worldwide
4. Editorials are published in the name of the newspaper rather than attributed to

Android App

| iOS App

| PW Website

individual journalists and are intended to represent the collective opinion or the public voice of a newspaper.

5. The genre of editorial journalism is exclusive to newspapers and refers to the practice of writing editorial articles.

Q14 Identify the odd statement out of the given sentences

1. This type of user-generated content can frame how news readers perceive issues featured in the news story or the news story itself.
2. Moreover, citizen participation and interaction in online discussions have been deemed beneficial for democracy.
3. Nowadays, online news comment sections have become pervasive and important features of how newspapers are read.
4. News comments also impact people's trust in the news outlet, the media, and democracy in general.
5. But several newspapers have decided to shut down or impose vigorous moderation policies as a result of the manifestation and spread of incivility in their online news comment sections.

Q15 Identify the odd statement out of the given sentences

1. Media coverage, however, may even affect those media consumers who pay only fleeting attention to the content of the reports
2. Democratic elections require open and accessible media.
3. Correlational data from panel surveys suggest that this mechanism may indeed affect voting by showing that media presence predicts election outcomes
4. People cast their votes based on heuristic decision-making.

5. Impartial media coverage fosters informed voting decisions by allowing politically engaged voters to evaluate a candidate based on relatively objective information.

Q16 Identify the odd statement out of the given sentences

1. Since Ukraine declared independence in 1991, there has been evidence of tensions between that country and Russia.
2. Since that time, Ukraine has become one of the most powerful oligarchic, political, and commercial satellite states of Russia.
3. Russia is a country that is located in eastern Europe and northern Asia, and Ukraine is also a country in eastern Europe.
4. Both countries used to be part of the defunct Union of Soviet Socialist Republics (USSR) before its collapse in 1991 under former USSR President Gorbachev.
5. USCRI (2022) pointed out that Ukraine is currently the second-largest country in Europe

Q17 Identify the odd statement out of the given sentences

1. The beginning of the Internet and progress in ICT have changed how individuals access and use library information.
2. Academic library websites have to provide information about libraries and library services
3. Furthermore, the new searching and sharing tools available on the internet provide users extra power, ease, and fun in information-seeking
4. Thus, the task of satisfying the new generation of users who are technology savvy becomes a challenge for librarians.
5. The growth of e-resources and their growing demand by the users put a challenge for the library and librarians today.

Android App

| iOS App

| PW Website

Q18 Identify the odd statement out of the given sentences

1. These arguments were against the assumption that feminist research can bring about a paradigm shift in social or cultural anthropology.
2. I also object to these arguments, but my paper does not refer to earlier objections to Strathearn
3. In both versions, I identify three arguments made by Marilyn Strathearn in a 1987 paper
4. One of the problems that Strathearn presents begins with these propositions is the anthropological fieldworker's job which is to describe the culture or society.
5. In 2012, I published a paper entitled "Feminist Research and Paradigm Shift in Anthropology," and in 2020 I put a revised version on Phil Papers.

Q19 Identify the odd statement out of the given sentences

1. The role of social media in ongoing crisis communication is an emerging field in public relations and communication management scholarship
2. They have called for further exploration of the use of other social media platforms in organizational crisis communication.
3. Analysts have reported that Twitter, Facebook, and blogs are the major information-sharing platforms
4. Particularly, these studies advocated the need for expanding the current scholarship on social-mediated crisis management on a global platform
5. Prior studies that examined the use of social media for crisis communication purposes have indicated several noticeable gaps in the crisis communication literature

Q20 Identify the odd statement out of the given sentences

1. It has become more and more embedded in the current socio-political spectrum, as a need for vigorous action is now urgent
2. It is important to stabilize, reduce, and then eliminate noxious anthropogenic emissions generated from fossil fuels, such as coal, oil, and natural gas.
3. Awareness about the environmental cause, connected with the phenomenon of global warming, has gradually increased over the past three decades
4. Global climate change is undeniably one of the most considerable challenges Humankind is facing at the turn of the twenty-first century.
5. Climate change is one of the most intensely debated issues in both academia and the international political stage.

Q21 Identify the odd statement out of the given sentences

1. Yet, they remain an overall small minority.
2. Twenty-one percent of the world's ministers and 26 percent of national parliamentarians were women.
3. There is substantial research in the area to support this notion of the "symbolic annihilation" of women politicians in the media, especially in a Western context
4. This is also true of politics, where, despite women being in positions of power, in January 2023, 34 women served as Heads of State and/or Government in 31 countries of the 193 United Nations member states.
5. Women today are in positions of senior leadership across a variety of professions, around the world.

Q22 Identify the odd statement out of the given sentences

1. In support of this thesis, we will cite a list of magazines on the pages of which his scientific works were published

Android App

| iOS App

| PW Website

2. Also, through being cited in scientific circles in Europe and the United States.
3. It also spread through his publication of monographs and brochures in Romanian and German
4. The international significance of his works is undeniable.
5. The results of the village priest's scientific research became known through newspapers and magazines of the time

Q23 Identify the odd statement out of the given sentences

1. The relationship between humans, language, and ideology is to be seen and analyzed in this study.
2. To begin with, this study hypothesizes that media have created and perpetuated a discriminatory attitude towards certain social categories
3. According to the study from immigrants, black people, gypsies, women, and criminals represent some favorite categories.
4. The reason for which these categories suffer discrimination is that they fail to meet the criteria that have been identified.
5. The reasons for media discrimination may be social (different social strata), political, ethnic, religious, economic, age, or gender-based

Q24 Identify the odd statement out of the given sentences

1. In this study, we have gathered economic policy-related information from budget speeches and stock-related news from newspapers
2. Many investors have realized that determining the influence of an event on stock price is a crucial stage in making strategic decisions.
3. So we have employed a set of linguistic patterns to improve the accuracy of the - method.

4. Traditional methods may struggle with recognizing unseen instances and need a huge amount of training data
 5. But finding events from social media is a challenging problem.

Q25 Identify the odd statement out of the given sentences

1. It is less likely to be perceived as biased and a direct persuasive attempt.
2. A second major source relates to media coverage in newspapers, television, radio, and online media.
3. Information from such media outlets has a different quality than information from political campaigns
4. Rather it builds an overarching narrative of current events in which political information becomes embedded
5. Exposure to political candidates is not limited to messages that are sent directly by a political actor or the corresponding party.

Q26 Identify the odd statement out of the given sentences

1. It also helps to find the most important variables for health literacy.
2. The European Health Literacy Scale was used to determine the health literacy level of the participants.
3. Health literacy is becoming a more important concept for the effective use of health systems day by day.
4. The main purpose of the study is to determine the importance levels of the variables by using Machine Learning methods to determine the main factors affecting health literacy
5. With the help of the established models, the basic Machine Learning variables that will affect the health literacy level were determined.

Android App

| iOS App

| PW Website

Q27 Identify the odd statement out of the given sentences

1. Kickboxers can participate in competitive events at both amateur and professional levels.
2. The professional has 3 rounds of 3 minutes with a 1-minute break between each round, in case of a title and/or belt dispute, up to 5 rounds can happen.
3. From a historical point of view, the modality emerged with karateka who were dissatisfied with the limiting rules of their sport, in which it was only allowed to strike without.
4. An amateur competition has 3 rounds lasting 2 minutes with a 1-minute break between each round.
5. The mats are musical forms, point fight kick light and light contact; and ringside: full contact, low kicks, and K1

Q28 Identify the odd statement out of the given sentences

1. Because it is presented from the perspective of a corporation, this is comparable to what is referred to as trade value
2. VAC is an MNC's ability to determine and manage the amount it costs to produce a product or service, alongside the amount a consumer pays for it.
3. VAC is defined as the "production of products and services at the lowest feasible cost and their sale at the price that is closest to customers' willingness to pay"
4. Hence, VAC is largely accomplished via the combination and transformation of resources and values into desired, affordable, and accessible goods.

5. Furthermore, our definition of VAC is a broad term that encompasses various operations that businesses undertake to reduce costs and defend an operational profit margin.

Q29 Identify the odd statement out of the given sentences

1. As someone who has been involved in this world, I've seen a lot of people try, and some of them succeed.
2. Much of the cultural interchange now takes place via such electronic means.
3. Yet for the online forum what would mainly have is individual examples and not a systematic application of existing offline models into the online world.
4. The Internet has now opened up as a wide field for our evangelization.
5. The Church is called to step out into every new forum and evangelize it

Q30 Identify the odd statement out of the given sentences

1. A definitive diagnosis is usually determined by a radiographic evaluation
2. Care in determining a tooth's absence is essential as there can be a wide variation in chronological development.
3. Second premolars, for example, can commence development as late as 9 or 10 years of age.
4. Nevertheless, all primary teeth should have erupted by 3 years of age and all permanent teeth should have erupted by the age of 13–14 years.
5. Prevalence Caution is advised in the determination of the prevalence of tooth agenesis.

Android App

| iOS App

| PW Website

Answer Key

Q1 2
Q2 3
Q3 4
Q4 3
Q5 5
Q6 4
Q7 2
Q8 5
Q9 4
Q10 5
Q11 1
Q12 1
Q13 2
Q14 2
Q15 4

Q16 5
Q17 2
Q18 2
Q19 3
Q20 5
Q21 3
Q22 1
Q23 4
Q24 5
Q25 5
Q26 2
Q27 3
Q28 1
Q29 1
Q30 1

Android App | iOS App | PW Website

Hints & Solutions

Q1 Text Solution:

Essence of the question:

This question checks the ability to identify the statement that does not align with the rest of the sentences. The statement that is not related to the topic and cannot be linked with other sentences, will be the odd one out sentence.

Explanation for the correct answer:

The odd one out is the second sentence. The whole passage talks about pesticides and their side effects in agriculture and crops, however, sentence 2 state how insects can be used as natural pest control, making it an odd sentence.

Explanation for incorrect answers:

The topic starts with the harmful use of synthetic pesticides in agricultural areas, moving on to the discussion of the problems associated with it. Option 5 further talks about investigating the botanical pesticide matter further (futuristic need) so that pesticide use in integrated pest management programs can be optimized. Sentence four says how it is harmful to agriculture and sentence one says it impairs the survival of a variety of life cycle stages. All these sentences are connected.

Trap of the Question:

The trap in questions of this nature lies in the potential for candidates to overlook subtle nuances or specific details that distinguish one statement from the others. It requires a keen ability to discern the context, intent, or scope of each statement and identify any outliers or statements that deviate in terms of theme, perspective, or focus. Candidates must resist the temptation to generalize their understanding and instead carefully analyze the unique attributes of each statement to pinpoint the one that diverges from the overall theme or pattern.

Q2 Text Solution:

Essence of the question:

This question checks the ability to identify the statement that does not align with the rest of the sentences. The statement that is not related to the topic and cannot be linked with other sentences, will be the odd one out sentence.

Explanation for the correct answer:

Sentence three is the odd one out. It is a judgment statement related to the protest, however, is misplaced in the given context. Thus, option 3 is the odd one out.

Explanation for incorrect answers:

Here the central idea focuses on how the Government is receiving opposition from some of the detrimental policies it has taken. Moving on to option 1, which is a use case of this opposition, in the form of a protest by thousands of teachers in Samarinda. The passage further carried forward to the distribution of information through mass media as discussed in options 4 and 5.

Trap of the Question:

The trap in questions of this nature lies in the potential for candidates to overlook subtle nuances or specific details that distinguish one statement from the others. It requires a keen ability to discern the context, intent, or scope of each statement and identify any outliers or statements that deviate in terms of theme, perspective, or focus. Candidates must resist the temptation to generalize their understanding and instead carefully analyze the unique attributes of each statement to pinpoint the one that diverges from the overall theme or pattern.

Q3 Text Solution:

Essence of the question:

This question checks the ability to identify the statement that does not align with the rest of the sentences. The statement that is not related to the topic and cannot be linked with other sentences, will be the odd one out sentence.

Android App

| iOS App

| PW Website

Explanation for the correct answer:

Sentence four is the odd one out. It is an inference-based solution, that it is time for the government to intervene in the housing market, however, it is too extreme and broad and does not specifically fit in the narrow concept.

Explanation for incorrect answers:

In the given paragraph, the context starts with option 3, how tenants are unable to pay rent because of lack of work. Further, it talks about the repercussions of tenant problems that lead to landlord problems in option 5. Moving on to 1, it talks about how the homeowners are indebted with taxes and mortgage payments. The effect of the same is portrayed in option 2 through lending institutions.

Trap of the Question:

The trap in questions of this nature lies in the potential for candidates to overlook subtle nuances or specific details that distinguish one statement from the others. It requires a keen ability to discern the context, intent, or scope of each statement and identify any outliers or statements that deviate in terms of theme, perspective, or focus. Candidates must resist the temptation to generalize their understanding and instead carefully analyze the unique attributes of each statement to pinpoint the one that diverges from the overall theme or pattern.

Q4 Text Solution:

Essence of the question:

This question checks the ability to identify the statement that does not align with the rest of the sentences. The statement that is not related to the topic and cannot be linked with other sentences, will be the odd one out sentence.

Explanation for the correct answer:

Sentence three is the odd one out as it talks about a maladaptive diet that can eventually lead to develop atherosclerosis, which could be caused by fat as well, however, the statement alone is alien to the given context.

Explanation for the incorrect answer:

The passage starts from the essence of fats and oils in an unhealthy diet in option 5. Then it moves to the fact, that it is unable for the human body to synthesize fatty acids in option 1. Further, carrying forward the same context in option 4, it takes the discussion to the amount of fat which is good and bad, and how it can lead to diseases in option 2.

Trap of the Question:

The trap in questions of this nature lies in the potential for candidates to overlook subtle nuances or specific details that distinguish one statement from the others. It requires a keen ability to discern the context, intent, or scope of each statement and identify any outliers or statements that deviate in terms of theme, perspective, or focus. Candidates must resist the temptation to generalize their understanding and instead carefully analyze the unique attributes of each statement to pinpoint the one that diverges from the overall theme or pattern.

Q5 Text Solution:

Essence of the question:

This question checks the ability to identify the statement that does not align with the rest of the sentences. The statement that is not related to the topic and cannot be linked with other sentences, will be the odd one out sentence.

Explanation for the correct answer:

Sentence five is the odd one out. It discusses restrictions or capacity limitations in major airports based on aircraft noise data. So, it does not align with other sentences which discuss air quality. Sentence five focuses on aircraft noise data; thus it can be taken as the odd one out.

Explanation for incorrect answers:

Android App

| iOS App

| PW Website

Sentence three states industry's growth. Sentence four discusses harmful gases which affect air quality. 2nd one considers airports the major source of air pollution and 1st says that despite of such harmful gas emissions, aviation are increasing year after year. All four sentences talk about the airports being frequently the most major source of air pollution in a community, the expansion of air travel has substantial climate change consequences for the global environment. Hence, they are connected.

Trap of the Question:

The trap in questions of this nature lies in the potential for candidates to overlook subtle nuances or specific details that distinguish one statement from the others. It requires a keen ability to discern the context, intent, or scope of each statement and identify any outliers or statements that deviate in terms of theme, perspective, or focus. Candidates must resist the temptation to generalize their understanding and instead carefully analyze the unique attributes of each statement to pinpoint the one that diverges from the overall theme or pattern.

Q6 Text Solution:

Essence of the question:

This question checks the ability to identify the statement that does not align with the rest of the sentences. The statement that is not related to the topic and cannot be linked with other sentences, will be the odd one out sentence.

Explanation for the correct answer:

Sentence four is the odd one out. It expresses the state of Uttarakhand as Himalayan ecosystems which attract tourists and rest of the sentences talk about natural disasters occurring in that region. Although sentence four gives a good reason why such disasters take place, however in the context of natural disasters, it is out of context and can be eliminated.

Explanation for incorrect answers:

The passage starts with the recent disaster in Kedarnath, Uttarakhand in 2021, as mentioned in option 1. It moves on to the past disasters of 2013 and 2004, in options 2 and 5 respectively. Further, option 3 talks about the various natural disasters that are common in the region.

Trap of the Question:

The trap in questions of this nature lies in the potential for candidates to overlook subtle nuances or specific details that distinguish one statement from the others. It requires a keen ability to discern the context, intent, or scope of each statement and identify any outliers or statements that deviate in terms of theme, perspective, or focus. Candidates must resist the temptation to generalize their understanding and instead carefully analyze the unique attributes of each statement to pinpoint the one that diverges from the overall theme or pattern.

Q7 Text Solution:

Essence of the question:

This question checks the ability to identify the statement that does not align with the rest of the sentences. The statement that is not related to the topic and cannot be linked with other sentences, will be the odd one out sentence.

Explanation for the correct answer:

Sentence two is the odd one out, as it discusses the negative consequences of Western colonization and other sentences talk about European colonization in various terms.

Explanation for incorrect answer:

The passage begins with the introduction of European colonization in option 3, and how it has affected the world and children who attend Steiner schools in options 5 and 4 respectively. Option 1 follows the introduction which talks about the region of its influence.

Android App

| iOS App

| PW Website

Trap of the Question:

The trap in questions of this nature lies in the potential for candidates to overlook subtle nuances or specific details that distinguish one statement from the others. It requires a keen ability to discern the context, intent, or scope of each statement and identify any outliers or statements that deviate in terms of theme, perspective, or focus. Candidates must resist the temptation to generalize their understanding and instead carefully analyze the unique attributes of each statement to pinpoint the one that diverges from the overall theme or pattern.

Q8 Text Solution:

Essence of the question:

This question checks the ability to identify the statement that does not align with the rest of the sentences. The statement that is not related to the topic and cannot be linked with other sentences, will be the odd one out sentence.

Explanation for the correct answer:

Sentence five is the odd one out. According to the given context, the paragraph is a broad discussion about COVID-19 and its consequences and option five is a supporting statement, as it gets into the specific intricacies of COVID leading to severe diseases, which is why it can be treated as the odd one out.

Explanation for incorrect answers:

The entire situation revolves around what COVID means (option 4), moving on to how a pandemic was declared (option 2), and further the repercussions of the pandemic (option 1). Options 3 and 4 form a great pair, where the third statement talks about deaths attributed to COVID, while option 4 discusses the chronic comorbidities, that can further aggravate the situation.

Trap of the Question:

The trap in questions of this nature lies in the potential for candidates to overlook subtle nuances or specific details that distinguish one statement from the others. It requires a keen ability to discern the context, intent, or scope of each statement and identify any outliers or statements that deviate in terms of theme, perspective, or focus. Candidates must resist the temptation to generalize their understanding and instead carefully analyze the unique attributes of each statement to pinpoint the one that diverges from the overall theme or pattern.

Q9 Text Solution:

Essence of the question:

This question checks the ability to identify the statement that does not align with the rest of the sentences. The statement that is not related to the topic and cannot be linked with other sentences, will be the odd one out sentence.

Explanation for the correct answer:

Sentence four is the odd one out. The central idea is fake or false news and not social media platforms. Thus, sentence four which focuses on social media channels becoming the primary sources of news and information for Canadians and people around the world is the odd one out.

Explanation for incorrect answers:

The passage starts with the relevance of how there was proof that social media was spreading fake news about COVID in statement 3, further, it moves on to a specific use case, which depicts how social media has become a primary source of false information. Sentence 5, further talks about researching how fake news is created and disseminated via social networking sites, finally discussing the essence of made-up information that resembles news media content in option 2.

Trap of the Question:

The trap in questions of this nature lies in the potential for candidates to overlook subtle nuances or specific details that distinguish one

Android App

| iOS App

| PW Website

statement from the others. It requires a keen ability to discern the context, intent, or scope of each statement and identify any outliers or statements that deviate in terms of theme, perspective, or focus. Candidates must resist the temptation to generalize their understanding and instead carefully analyze the unique attributes of each statement to pinpoint the one that diverges from the overall theme or pattern.

Q10 Text Solution:

Essence of the question:

This question checks the ability to identify the statement that does not align with the rest of the sentences. The statement that is not related to the topic and cannot be linked with other sentences, will be the odd one out sentence.

Explanation for the correct answer:

Sentence five is the odd one out. This statement is different from the others as it focuses on the manifestation of media culture in the context of the development of professional activity, whereas the other statements discuss the broader influence and spread of media in society.

Explanation for the incorrect answers:

Sentences one and two what media is and its influence. Sentence one defines media in today's world. The third statement also explains how the media spreads. The 4th one discusses how media texts are becoming more popular. So, all of them are connected.

Trap of the Question:

The trap in questions of this nature lies in the potential for candidates to overlook subtle nuances or specific details that distinguish one statement from the others. It requires a keen ability to discern the context, intent, or scope of each statement and identify any outliers or statements that deviate in terms of theme, perspective, or focus. Candidates must resist the temptation to generalize their understanding and instead carefully analyze the unique attributes of each statement to pinpoint the one that diverges from the overall theme or pattern.

Q11 Text Solution:

Essence of the question:

This question checks the ability to identify the statement that does not align with the rest of the sentences. The statement that is not related to the topic and cannot be linked with other sentences, will be the odd one out sentence.

Explanation for the correct answer:

Sentence one is the odd one out. It talks about the modern generations deciphering and restoring historical facts from the given information and does not connect with the flow. Thus this option can be taken as the odd one out.

Explanation for incorrect answers:

The passage revolves around the context discussed in options 3, 2, 5, and 4. The central idea focuses on Western-educated nationals and Chinese foreigners beginning to establish their newspapers, which eventually became an important source of social information and understanding for the Chinese people.

Trap of the Question:

The trap in questions of this nature lies in the potential for candidates to overlook subtle nuances or specific details that distinguish one statement from the others. It requires a keen ability to discern the context, intent, or scope of each statement and identify any outliers or statements that deviate in terms of theme, perspective, or focus. Candidates must resist the temptation to generalize their understanding and instead carefully analyze the unique attributes of each statement to pinpoint the one that diverges from the overall theme or pattern.

Q12 Text Solution:

Android App | iOS App | PW Website

Essence of the question:

This question checks the ability to identify the statement that does not align with the rest of the sentences. The statement that is not related to the topic and cannot be linked with other sentences, will be the odd one out sentence.

Explanation for the correct answer:

Sentence one is the odd one out as it is a broad introduction to the given passage, which talks about how Sediment production is important in supply-limited systems, however, fails to associate its relevance with debris flow frequency. Thus, this can be taken as the odd one out.

Explanation for incorrect answers:

The crux of the passage is based on debris flow. The passage starts from option 5 where it is evident how Sediment production has a strong influence on debris flow frequency. Moving on to option 4, talks about the relevance of the process of channel recharge in the process, further moving on to two conditions that can trigger the process, as discussed in options 2 and 3, both form a meaningful pair.

Trap of the Question:

The trap in questions of this nature lies in the potential for candidates to overlook subtle nuances or specific details that distinguish one statement from the others. It requires a keen ability to discern the context, intent, or scope of each statement and identify any outliers or statements that deviate in terms of theme, perspective, or focus. Candidates must resist the temptation to generalize their understanding and instead carefully analyze the unique attributes of each statement to pinpoint the one that diverges from the overall theme or pattern.

Q13 Text Solution:Essence of the question:

This question checks the ability to identify the statement that does not align with the rest of the sentences. The statement that is not related to the topic and cannot be linked with other sentences, will be the odd one out sentence.

Explanation for the correct answer:

Sentence states that there some countries named Mexico, Saudi Arabia, and Bulgaria, where editorials are not common and this is not going with the flow of other sentences. It goes against the topic by citing examples of places in the world, where editorials are not common, thus, making it the odd one out.

Explanation for incorrect answers:

The passage is a sheer explanation of the scope, relevance, and meaning of editorial journalism. Option 5 starts with how editorial journalism is exclusive to newspapers and refers to the practice of writing editorial articles. Moving on to the discussion of the same article, it is clear how these form a part of the historical feature of the printed newspaper format worldwide in option 3. Options 3 and 1 form a conclusive pair that focuses on the scope and relevance of editorials.

Trap of the Question:

The trap in questions of this nature lies in the potential for candidates to overlook subtle nuances or specific details that distinguish one statement from the others. It requires a keen ability to discern the context, intent, or scope of each statement and identify any outliers or statements that deviate in terms of theme, perspective, or focus. Candidates must resist the temptation to generalize their understanding and instead carefully analyze the unique attributes of each statement to pinpoint the one that diverges from the overall theme or pattern.

Q14 Text Solution:Explanation for the correct answer:

Android App | iOS App | PW Website

The odd one out is the second sentence. The whole passage talks about pesticides and its side effects in agriculture and crops, however two sentences state how insects can be used as natural pest control, making it an odd one sentence.

Explanation for the correct answer:

Sentence two is the odd one out. It discusses citizen participation in online discussions which can be beneficial for democracy, however other sentences talk about online news but they do not discuss direct interaction of people in online discussions.

Explanation for incorrect answers:

Sentence three talks about online news comment sections, which is an important feature of online news now a days. Sentence one describes news comment sections. The 4th one says that it impacts people's trust in the news and the fifth one states that several newspapers have decided to shut down or impose vigorous moderation policies on comment sections. So, all of them talk about the same topic and are connected.

Trap of the Question:

The trap in questions of this nature lies in the potential for candidates to overlook subtle nuances or specific details that distinguish one statement from the others. It requires a keen ability to discern the context, intent, or scope of each statement and identify any outliers or statements that deviate in terms of theme, perspective, or focus. Candidates must resist the temptation to generalize their understanding and instead carefully analyze the unique attributes of each statement to pinpoint the one that diverges from the overall theme or pattern.

Q15 Text Solution:

Essence of the question:

This question checks the ability to identify the statement that does not align with the rest of the sentences. The statement that is not related to the topic and cannot be linked with other sentences, will be the odd one out sentence.

Explanation for the correct answer:

Sentence four is the odd one out as it talks about a mind-frame that voters use when casting votes. The passage is more result-oriented than cause-oriented, hence option 4 is the odd one out.

Explanation for incorrect answers:

The passage starts from option 2 where it can be ascertained that open and accessible media is required to assess Democratic elections. Options 5, 1, and 3 further verify how impartial media coverage can help in evaluating a candidate, affect media consumers, and predict election outcomes.

Trap of the Question:

The trap in questions of this nature lies in the potential for candidates to overlook subtle nuances or specific details that distinguish one statement from the others. It requires a keen ability to discern the context, intent, or scope of each statement and identify any outliers or statements that deviate in terms of theme, perspective, or focus. Candidates must resist the temptation to generalize their understanding and instead carefully analyze the unique attributes of each statement to pinpoint the one that diverges from the overall theme or pattern.

Q16 Text Solution:

Essence of the question:

This question checks the ability to identify the statement that does not align with the rest of the sentences. The statement that is not related to the topic and cannot be linked with other sentences, will be the odd one out sentence.

Explanation for the correct answer:

Sentence five states that USCRI declared that Ukraine is currently the second-largest country in Europe, however other sentences talk about

Russia and Ukraine and their separation. We do not find any clue of discussion of geographical areas of countries. The discussion is based on politics.

Explanation for incorrect answers:

Sentence three states that Russia and Ukraine are countries in eastern Europe, then sentence four discusses that they were part of USSR earlier and sentence two says that Ukraine has become one of the most powerful states of Russia. Sentence one talks about Ukraine's independence in 1991. This shows how both the countries were connected and then they got separated later on.

Trap of the Question:

The trap in questions of this nature lies in the potential for candidates to overlook subtle nuances or specific details that distinguish one statement from the others. It requires a keen ability to discern the context, intent, or scope of each statement and identify any outliers or statements that deviate in terms of theme, perspective, or focus. Candidates must resist the temptation to generalize their understanding and instead carefully analyze the unique attributes of each statement to pinpoint the one that diverges from the overall theme or pattern.

Q17 Text Solution:

Essence of the Question:

This question assesses the ability to identify the statement that does not align with others. A sentence that does not connect with the topic and rest of the sentences will be the odd one out sentence.

Explanation for the correct answer:

2nd sentence is the odd one out. Sentence 2 talks about the content that library websites should cater to, which is outside the primary context, and thus, is the odd one out.

Explanation for incorrect answers:

The passage starts by pressing on the relevance of providing internet tools for users in libraries in option 1. Moving to option 5, it talks about how the growth of e-resources has become a challenge for libraries. Option 3 talks about the advantages of including online resources in libraries, and finally how it benefits the new generation in option 4.

Trap of the Question:

The trap in questions of this nature lies in the potential for candidates to overlook subtle nuances or specific details that distinguish one statement from the others. It requires a keen ability to discern the context, intent, or scope of each statement and identify any outliers or statements that deviate in terms of theme, perspective, or focus. Candidates must resist the temptation to generalize their understanding and instead carefully analyze the unique attributes of each statement to pinpoint the one that diverges from the overall theme or pattern.

Q18 Text Solution:

Essence of the Question:

This question assesses the ability to identify the statement that does not align with others. A sentence that does not connect with the topic and rest of the sentences will be the odd one out sentence.

Explanation for the correct answer:

2nd sentence is the odd one out. Sentence 2 talks about the earlier objections he made to Strathearn which are irrelevant to context.

Explanation for incorrect answers:

The author starts by talking about his research in 2012 and 2020 in option 5 moving on to the explanation of both the versions in option 3. In this statement, the author talks about the three arguments made by Marilyn Strathearn, which in option 1, were against the assumption that feminist research can bring about a paradigm shift in social or cultural anthropology. Option 4 again talks about the problems that Strathearn presents.

Trap of the Question:

Android App

| iOS App

| PW Website

The trap in questions of this nature lies in the potential for candidates to overlook subtle nuances or specific details that distinguish one statement from the others. It requires a keen ability to discern the context, intent, or scope of each statement and identify any outliers or statements that deviate in terms of theme, perspective, or focus. Candidates must resist the temptation to generalize their understanding and instead carefully analyze the unique attributes of each statement to pinpoint the one that diverges from the overall theme or pattern.

Q19 Text Solution:

Essence of the Question:

This question assesses the ability to identify the statement that does not align with others. A sentence that does not connect with the topic and rest of the sentences will be the odd one out sentence.

Explanation for the correct answer:

Sentence 3 is the odd one out. 3rd sentence talks of specific social media channels being major information-sharing platforms, which are unrelated to the context and thus can be eliminated.

Explanation for incorrect answers:

The topic is the importance of sharing crisis communication literature on social media platforms, which is denoted by statement 1. Statement 5 talks about studies conducted on the use of social media for crisis communication purposes. Further option 2 talks of further analysis required on using social media platforms in organizational crisis communication, and finally moving on to researching the need to take it to a global platform in option 4.

Trap of the Question:

The trap in questions of this nature lies in the potential for candidates to overlook subtle nuances or specific details that distinguish one statement from the others. It requires a keen ability to discern the context, intent, or scope of each statement and identify any outliers or statements that deviate in terms of theme, perspective, or focus. Candidates must resist the temptation to generalize their understanding and instead carefully analyze the unique attributes of each statement to pinpoint the one that diverges from the overall theme or pattern.

Q20 Text Solution:

Essence of the question:

This question checks the ability to identify the statement that does not align with the rest of the sentences. The statement that is not related to the topic and cannot be linked with other sentences, will be the odd one out sentence.

Explanation for the correct answer:

Sentence five is the odd one out. The central theme of the passage revolves around global climate change as discussed in option four. Option 5 forms a good introduction to the topic, however, considering the matter as a debatable issue in both academia and the international political stage is irrelevant to the context.

Explanation for incorrect answers:

Sentence four discusses that global climate change is one of the challenges that humankind is facing. Option three talks about its awareness and sentence one says that vigorous action has to be taken for this. sentence two discusses noxious anthropogenic emissions, that it needs to be reduced.

Trap of the Question:

The trap in questions of this nature lies in the potential for candidates to overlook subtle nuances or specific details that distinguish one statement from the others. It requires a keen ability to discern the context, intent, or scope of each statement and identify any outliers or statements that deviate in terms of theme, perspective, or focus. Candidates must resist the temptation to generalize their understanding and instead carefully analyze the unique attributes of each statement to pinpoint the one that diverges from the overall theme or pattern.

Q21 Text Solution:

Essence of the Question:

This question assesses the ability to identify the statement that does not align with others. A sentence that does not connect with the topic and rest of the sentences will be the odd one out sentence.

Explanation for the correct answer:

Sentence 3 is the odd one out. Sentence 3 supports the notion of the "symbolic annihilation" of women politicians in the media, especially in a Western context, which is too specific a discussion. Hence this can be treated as odd one out.

Explanation for incorrect answers:

The entire passage revolves around Women in positions of senior leadership across a variety of professions, around the world which is mentioned in option 5. However, the minority is discussed in option 1, which takes the discussion to some stats and facts, as specified in options 4 and 2.

Trap of the Question:

The trap in questions of this nature lies in the potential for candidates to overlook subtle nuances or specific details that distinguish one statement from the others. It requires a keen ability to discern the context, intent, or scope of each statement and identify any outliers or statements that deviate in terms of theme, perspective, or focus. Candidates must resist the temptation to generalize their understanding and instead carefully analyze the unique attributes of each statement to pinpoint the one that diverges from the overall theme or pattern.

Q22 Text Solution:

Essence of the Question:

This question assesses the ability to identify the statement that does not align with others. A sentence that does not connect with the topic and rest of the sentences will be the odd one out sentence.

Explanation for the correct answer:

Sentence 1 is the odd one out. It goes into detail by attempting to reveal the list of magazines on the pages of which his scientific works were published, which is irrelevant to the context.

Explanation for incorrect answers:

The passage starts from option 5, where the author discusses the results of the village priest's scientific research that were known through newspapers and magazines of the time. Besides this medium, according to option 3, it also spread through his publication of monographs and brochures in Romanian and German. Further options 2 and 4 talk of other regions and the international relevance of the village priest's works.

Trap of the Question:

The trap in questions of this nature lies in the potential for candidates to overlook subtle nuances or specific details that distinguish one statement from the others. It requires a keen ability to discern the context, intent, or scope of each statement and identify any outliers or statements that deviate in terms of theme, perspective, or focus. Candidates must resist the temptation to generalize their understanding and instead carefully analyze the unique attributes of each statement to pinpoint the one that diverges from the overall theme or pattern.

Q23 Text Solution:

Essence of the Question:

This question assesses the ability to identify the statement that does not align with others. A sentence that does not connect with the topic and rest of the sentences will be the odd one out sentence.

Android App | iOS App | PW Website

Explanation for the correct answer:

4th sentence is the odd one out. Option 4 talks about the relationship between humans, language, and ideology, which is proposed to be analyzed in this study, which is too broad to be included in the passage. Thus it is the odd one out.

Explanation for incorrect answers:

The central theme of the passage revolves around developing a discriminatory attitude towards certain social categories as initiated in option 2. It further moves on to options 1, 5, and 3 which talk about various attitudes, reasons for media discrimination, and why these categories suffer discrimination.

Trap of the Question:

The trap in questions of this nature lies in the potential for candidates to overlook subtle nuances or specific details that distinguish one statement from the others. It requires a keen ability to discern the context, intent, or scope of each statement and identify any outliers or statements that deviate in terms of theme, perspective, or focus. Candidates must resist the temptation to generalize their understanding and instead carefully analyze the unique attributes of each statement to pinpoint the one that diverges from the overall theme or pattern.

Q24 Text Solution:

Essence of the question:

This question checks the ability to identify the statement that does not align with the rest of the sentences. The statement that is not related to the topic and cannot be linked with other sentences, will be the odd one out sentence.

Explanation for the correct answer:

Sentence 5 is the odd one out. The entire passage focuses on various traditional ways of gathering information about the influence of an event on stock price which is a crucial stage in making strategic decisions. Innovative techniques like linguistic patterns have also been discussed. However, option 5 takes us straight to the challenges of finding events from social media, without even introducing the solution as a subject in any other options. Thus, option 5 is alien to context and should be treated as the odd one out.

Explanation for incorrect answers:

Sentence one talks about a study which shows economic policy-related information from budget speeches and stock-related news. Sentence two says about decision making that there is influence of an event on stock price which plays a crucial role in it. Sentence four says that traditional methods are not sufficient, so we need a set of linguistic patterns to improve the accuracy of the method. This shows that all these sentences are based on the same topic and linked to each other.

Trap of the Question:

The trap in questions of this nature lies in the potential for candidates to overlook subtle nuances or specific details that distinguish one statement from the others. It requires a keen ability to discern the context, intent, or scope of each statement and identify any outliers or statements that deviate in terms of theme, perspective, or focus. Candidates must resist the temptation to generalize their understanding and instead carefully analyze the unique attributes of each statement to pinpoint the one that diverges from the overall theme or pattern.

Q25 Text Solution:

Essence of the Question:

This question assesses the ability to identify the statement that does not align with others. A sentence that does not connect with the topic and rest of the sentences will be the odd one out sentence.

Explanation for the correct answer:

Option 5 talks about not centering the limitation to gaining messages by a political party and suggests other ways to retrieve information, which is out of context here. The entire passage focuses on relying on various platforms to get the right information.

Explanation for incorrect answers:

The central theme of the passage revolves around sources related to media coverage in newspapers, television, radio, and online media, as mentioned in option 2. It talks about how such information gathered from other sources is different in quality as compared to the information grasped from political campaigns in option 3. Option 1 and 4, give out reasons for the popularity of retrieving political information from various other sources. The correct order is 2314.

Trap of the Question:

The trap in questions of this nature lies in the potential for candidates to overlook subtle nuances or specific details that distinguish one statement from the others. It requires a keen ability to discern the context, intent, or scope of each statement and identify any outliers or statements that deviate in terms of theme, perspective, or focus. Candidates must resist the temptation to generalize their understanding and instead carefully analyze the unique attributes of each statement to pinpoint the one that diverges from the overall theme or pattern.

Q26 Text Solution:

Essence of the Question:

This question assesses the ability to identify the statement that does not align with others. A sentence that does not connect with the topic and rest of the sentences will be the odd one out sentence.

Explanation for the correct answer:

Sentence 2 is the odd one out. 2nd sentence considers a specific solution - The European Health Literacy Scale which was used to determine the health literacy level of the participants. The passage does not yet turn to the process of assessment or calculation of health literacy levels; thus, this option can be eliminated from the crux of the passage.

Explanation for incorrect answers:

The central theme of the passage focuses on health literacy, and how by using Machine Learning methods, it has become easier to determine the main factors affecting health literacy. This can be inferred from options 3 and 4. Options 1 and 5 give further clarifications on using the appropriate means to ascertain health literacy.

Trap of the Question:

The trap in questions of this nature lies in the potential for candidates to overlook subtle nuances or specific details that distinguish one statement from the others. It requires a keen ability to discern the context, intent, or scope of each statement and identify any outliers or statements that deviate in terms of theme, perspective, or focus. Candidates must resist the temptation to generalize their understanding and instead carefully analyze the unique attributes of each statement to pinpoint the one that diverges from the overall theme or pattern.

Q27 Text Solution:

Essence of the Question:

This question assesses the ability to identify the statement that does not align with others. A sentence that does not connect with the topic and rest of the sentences will be the odd one out sentence.

Explanation for the correct answer:

3rd sentence is the odd one out. Sentence 3 can be treated as the odd one out, as it takes us to a historical viewpoint of how the modality emerged with karateka.

Explanation for incorrect answers:

Option 1 introduces how Kickboxers can participate in competitive events at both amateur and professional levels. Options 2 and 4 further discuss the process and procedure of amateur and professional-level competitions. Option 5 further discusses the resources and actions that are used in the box.

Trap of the Question:

The trap in questions of this nature lies in the potential for candidates to overlook subtle nuances or specific details that distinguish one statement from the others. It requires a keen ability to discern the context, intent, or scope of each statement and identify any outliers or statements that deviate in terms of theme, perspective, or focus. Candidates must resist the temptation to generalize their understanding and instead carefully analyze the unique attributes of each statement to pinpoint the one that diverges from the overall theme or pattern.

Q28 Text Solution:

Essence of the question:

This question checks the ability to identify the statement that does not align with the rest of the sentences. The statement that is not related to the topic and cannot be linked with other sentences, will be the odd one out sentence.

Explanation for the correct answer:

Sentence 1 is the odd one out. It talks about trade value that is a comparable nature of VACs to trade value, that too presented from the perspective of a corporation. It is too narrow and thus can be treated as the odd one out.

Explanation for incorrect answers:

Sentence 3 defines VAC that it is production of products and services. Sentence 2 says that VAC is an MNC's ability to manage the cost of products. 4th one talks about how it can be accomplished and 5th one concludes it by saying that it is a broad term that encompasses various operations. Since all of them discuss the meaning and definition of VAC, they all are connected.

Trap of the Question:

The trap in questions of this nature lies in the potential for candidates to overlook subtle nuances or specific details that distinguish one statement from the others. It requires a keen ability to discern the context, intent, or scope of each statement and identify any outliers or statements that deviate in terms of theme, perspective, or focus. Candidates must resist the temptation to generalize their understanding and instead carefully analyze the unique attributes of each statement to pinpoint the one that diverges from the overall theme or pattern.

Q29 Text Solution:

Essence of the question:

This question checks the ability to identify the statement that does not align with rest of the sentences. The statement that is not related to topic and cannot be linked with other sentences, will be the odd one out sentence.

Explanation for the correct answer:

1st one is the odd one out sentence here. The entire passage focuses on how evangelization and cultural interchange are prominent on the internet and sentence one talks about success and trying to be succeed which does not link with internet and culture exchange. Option 1 is an individual opinion and holds the least relevance to the context, thus this is the correct answer.

Explanation for incorrect answers:

The entire passage focuses on how evangelization and cultural interchange are prominent on the internet. Sentence 2 says that now cultural interchange happens on electronic media and sentence 3 discusses about online mode that it does not have systematic application of existing offline models into the online world. Options 5 and 4 further support the point of view of opening up new forums to evangelization. Therefore, all these sentences are connected and based on the same topic.

Trap of the Question:

The trap in questions of this nature lies in the potential for candidates to overlook subtle nuances or specific details that distinguish one statement from the others. It requires a keen ability to discern the context, intent, or scope of each statement and identify any outliers or statements that deviate in terms of theme, perspective, or focus. Candidates must resist the temptation to generalize their understanding and instead carefully analyze the unique attributes of each statement to pinpoint the one that diverges from the overall theme or pattern.

Q30 Text Solution:

Essence of the Question:

This question assesses the ability to identify the statement that does not align with others. A sentence that does not connect with the topic and rest of the sentences will be the odd one out sentence.

Explanation for the correct answer:

Option 1 is a great way to conduct examination and Prevalence Caution, however, the passage is based on an introduction to teeth development, rather than on determining ways to conduct a definitive diagnosis. Thus option 1 can be eliminated. 1 is the odd one out.

Explanation for incorrect answers:

The passage starts with the discussion on Prevalence Caution for the prevalence of tooth agenesis in option 5. Then it moves on to covering the concept of care regarding a tooth's absence considering the wide variation in chronological development in option 2. Options 3 and 4 follow the discussion conforming to the age-groups of teeth development.

Trap of the Question:

The trap in questions of this nature lies in the potential for candidates to overlook subtle nuances or specific details that distinguish one statement from the others. It requires a keen ability to discern the context, intent, or scope of each statement and identify any outliers or statements that deviate in terms of theme, perspective, or focus. Candidates must resist the temptation to generalize their understanding and instead carefully analyze the unique attributes of each statement to pinpoint the one that diverges from the overall theme or pattern.

Android App

| iOS App

| PW Website